

DISCLAIMERS

BILINGUALISM

All documents created by the project team are accessible in French and English. However, it is possible that certain links or documents included as part of the Journey, and created by our partners, are only available in one language. They are therefore included as is. If a translated version is eventually available, it will be added to the Journey.

CONTENT

The project team has developed the content of this site in good faith by consulting numerous sources of information as well as consulting with local partners. We recognize, however, that the content presented on this site may continue to evolve and it will do its best to incorporate any new information or corrections that may come to our attention following the launch.
